

I'm Heather Shenberger and I've been at Park Street since August 1999. Teaching has been a passion of mine since elementary school, and I find great fulfillment in watching children grasp new concepts for the first time especially when I've helped guide that learning. I am particularly enthusiastic about teaching science through hands on experiments, which I believe inspire curiosity and deeper understanding. My husband, daughter, and I reside in Perrysville, where we manage our 166 acre farm. We attend Cross Connect Church. In my free time, I enjoy shopping, reading, and traveling.
